PGRs Provide Consistent Quality For Exacting Growers

Matthew Hirsh of Chapon's Greenhouse, Inc., shares his story.

Fine Americas' PGR technology helps me to continuously produce crops that meet my exacting standards. As a grower/retailer, my time is often split between tending to customers and growing high-quality plants. Fine Americas' growth regulators allow me to start crops earlier and still hold them for later sales.

Dazide has been a very useful tool for our operation. Whether we use it on ageratum, zinnias, late winter pansies or fall mums, it gives our plants dark green foliage, encourages branching and they have an overall toned appearance. Dazide allows me to use repeated applications until I reach the level of controlled growth and uniformity I desire.

Concise has also proved to be an essential part of our production plans. With Concise, we can hold quality plants without stretching until customers are ready to buy. Fine Americas helps me to achieve the goal of producing fine crops that I demand.
